

407-1113

A dark, curved object, possibly a tool or part of a machine, is shown against a light background. The object consists of a long, curved horizontal bar and a vertical stem that intersects it. The vertical stem has a textured, possibly serrated or grooved, section near its base. The overall appearance is that of a mechanical component or a specialized tool.

407-1113

407-1113